The co-editors of the 98-99 Pathfinder would like to say welcome to those of you joining the campus for the first time and those who have been here more than one year. This yearbook represents a lot of hard work and time put in by the Yearbook staff and others.

We want to thank Kim Price for the pictures she has taken and her help on layout and design. We want to thank Tara Heath, Kelly Palma, and Mike Chapaloney for coming in and showing us the “ropes” of the trade. The last group of people we want to thank is Nancy Clemente, our advisor, and the yearbook staff for finally getting down to work and producing this yearbook. Because we were all greenhorns, their help was a godsend.

We had a lot of struggle this year putting this together and raising money at the same time. We hope that next year the students can get more involved in the making of the yearbook to make it more successful.

The last thing we have to say is good luck to all the graduates leaving this year. We hope that your time here has paved the way for success in your future. Good Luck!

Sincerely,

Brad Poling Michelle Miller

Library and Student Services

Student Services is a part of the campus where you can go to receive academic and support help. The Learning Support Center offer services for test taking and study skills. They provide academic counseling if your grades drop. The Career Resource Center can help you choose a field in which to major and assist with job placement. Many other services are also available to students free of charge.

School of Nursing

BSN FACULTY: Linda Benson, Jane Fox-Tarr, Mary Kavooosi, Pam Lawrence

The School of Nursing offers degrees ranging from the Associate to the Masters level. All A.S.N. courses are located at the Venango Campus. B.S.N. courses are offered at Venango Campus, the Pittsburgh site located at West Penn Hospital and in Clearfield. Clarion University has a joint Master of Science in Nursing, Family Nurse Practitioner program with Slippery Rock University. The programs' primary goals are the provision of educational experiences designed to promote scientific inquiry, creative thinking, critical judgement, and personal development.

Sorry to See You Go!

Ron Schlecht
Administrative Coordinator

Ron has worn many hats at Clarion University starting in the Flexible All-Year School in 1973. In recent years, he has been the Venango Dean's right arm, keeping track of everything from space requests to computers, and paying campus bills to advising students. Good luck Ron!

Anita Hall
Assistant Professor In Finance

Anita has taught office management courses in the Finance Department at Venango Campus since 1978. She has been the advisor for the Business Club for many years and a very important part of student life. We wish her a happy and healthy retirement.

Linda Brown
Book Store Manager

Linda was at the heart of Venango Campus. She always had a smile on her face and knew every student by name. She supported campus activities by selling tickets, chaperoning events and even attending them. We could always count on Linda to help out. We wish her luck!

This has been a very successful year in athletics for Venango Campus. In the Northwestern Extramural Sports Conference, our campus teams won two of the three tournaments in which they participated. Programming offered were recreational golf, bowling, pool, and ping pong tournaments. YMCA memberships offered aerobics, weight lifting, racquetball, and an indoor running track.

ATHLETICS and SPORTS

LEADERSHIP

An Important Part of Campus Life

Susan Lewis, the keynote speaker, poses for her picture after her inspiring and informative presentation.

Leadership Seminar and Workshop held at Cross Creek Resort

This group seems to have their ideas all tied up in "Knots".

Barb Reagle addresses a break-out group at the retreat.

Isn't this great? A group of people gathered around the table eating. Have they been to "Wine, Dine, and How to Act Fine"?

Kara Uhl and Linda Conley try to find their way out of the tangled "knots".

Students Take on Leadership Roles

Margie Adams holds the lucky ticket.

“GIVE YOUR STUDENT SENATE PREZ A BUZZ CONTEST”

Senate President, Jeff DeVault, went under the shears to raise money for the Student Senate.

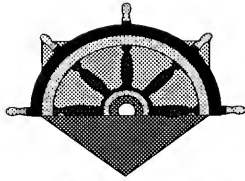

“Watch the ear!”

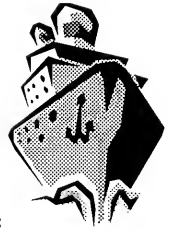

Whew! A job well done by Margie. Jeff feels cooler already.

GATEWAY CLIPPER CRUISE

The annual fall Gateway Clipper Cruise is eagerly anticipated by University staff and students alike. Usually, a clear starry night greets the guests as they cruise the "Three Rivers", while enjoying good food and dance music.

Jenn Husband, Bill Owens, Chris Lyle, Cori Anderson, Bill Wright, Jay Parsons, and Deb McFadden enjoy the cruise on the river.

Dr. Acton is having a good time on the cruise with his wife Mary Ann.

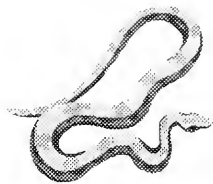

Kim Price, Heidi, Joe Hulsizer, Wade Redding, Jill Humes, and Kathy Kahle are ready to dance the night away.

HERPS ALIVE

Security Guard Bob Crist and Stacey Gadley are amazed at the size of this snake!

Nancy Clemente, Kelly Miller, and Rhea Hale dare to touch the baby alligator.

Snakes come in various shapes and sizes.

The audience listens carefully as Keith Gisser talks about the alligator.

Herps Alive is just one of the educational yet entertaining programs offered to the students and their families by the Campus Activities Board. Many programs are booked at the annual NACA Conference.

Do You Have “5” Minutes to Spare?

GIVE “5” Volunteer Fair

The community and students really got involved.

The Community Service Learning Office of Venango Campus and the Venango County Volunteer Collaborative

Initiative sponsored a Volunteer Fair for area human service agencies and other organizations to recruit and encourage volunteering.

Give “5” at the Volunteer Fair

The Community Service Learning office provides students, faculty, and staff with opportunities to volunteer and perform community service in the Venango County area.

Hey! Kim Price is joining in on the fun, too!

STUDENT ART SHOW

Fall Semester 1998

The Learning Support Center held the first ever Venango Campus student art show in conjunction with the semi-annual Study Fair. Jay Beck, Eileen Ebbert, Jan Martz, and Kathleen Plyler were the featured artists. This promises to be an annual event for our future enjoyment.

This poinsettia wall quilt was created by Kathleen Plyler. It was done by machine in a paper piecing method which is like putting a jigsaw puzzle together.

L: "North Wind Winter" is a fun piece. R: "Hand in Heart", Kathleen's smallest entry, has a pieced border, appliqued center and is embellished with antique buttons and trims.

Laura Hartman & Jeff DeVault examine Kathleen's queen size "Star Spin" quilt. This piece was hand quilted using 35 different colors.

THE SPIRIT OF GIVING

Students, faculty and staff including the Business Club volunteered their time with members of Oil City Rotary at the Cranberry Mall selling shopping bags, collecting presents for the Giving Tree, and wrapping gifts for last minute shoppers to help Community Services of Venango County.

Nancy and Kelly Palma would like at least one person to come and buy a bag. Please!?!

Julie Tarr tries hard to get donations for shopping bags too.

Suzan Weyman concentrates hard on wrapping the perfect gift.

Toni Nairn and Sandy Gelzheiser look like they are up to some mischief.

Bill Wright and Tori Slaughenou: Working hard or hardly working?

Brad Weiss and Jim Winger don't have to try very hard to have fun while volunteering.

C.A.B. Points The Way

From Steak Frys to Murder Mystery Dinner Theaters, and Trips to Sea World, Toronto, and Shopping in Pittsburgh, the Campus Activities Board really delivers a year full of interesting and fun activities.

The Fall Steak Fry is a great time for students to get to know one another while grilling their own delmonico steaks outside Rhoades.

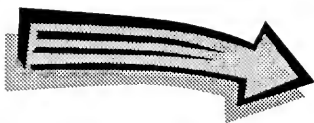

Chris Lyle, Bill Wright, Stacey Gadley and Marlene McCool anxiously await to serve you with a smile.

Jodi Diven wants students to help support the Venango County Humane Society by selling bean bag pets during Adopt-A-Pet Day.

The group poses outside the bus between visiting the Pumpkin Patch and the Erie Zoo Boo display. OR Did the animals escape from the Erie zoo to stow away on the Campus' chartered bus?

To A Fun-Filled Year

Missi Spafford, Cori Anderson, and others Be-Bop at the Sock Hop.

C.A.B. presents Community PlayHouse, Inc. players in Ken Ludwig's comedy "Moon Over Buffalo."

Trobe Barnitz performs Jimmy Hendrix at the Coffee House.

Phil Terman reads poetry from his new book "House of Sages."

Mama Stromboli, "I'm single, 80, and bake cookies!"

Murder Mystery Dinner Theater

Hurry up and take my picture; my mouth hurts.

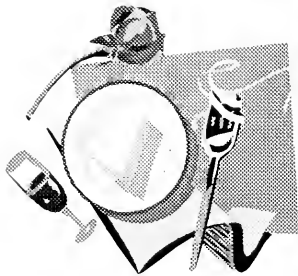

Tori Slaughenhou, Penny Shaughnessy, and others took advantage of the ALL YOU CAN EAT Italian Buffet.

CHEERS!

"Mama Stromboli" enjoys the meal at her birthday party!

Participants were invited to attend a Power Point presentation on dining and business etiquette by Kim Price followed by a six course meal.

During dinner, Kim explained everything from which utensils to use with each course to conversation starters and how to tip. She demonstrated the art of eating French onion soup, removing the lobster meat from its shell, and how to select the right wine to compliment the meal. Other aspects of the evening included tips on how to act and dress for a business interview, proper etiquette, and how to put all these things together to be more successful and yet comfortable in most social situations.

Shelly, Jim and Becky (from M's Cafe) serve you breakfast, lunch and dinner between classes.

Exercise equipment like the tread mill and recreational equipment such as the pool table are a big part of student relaxation in Rhoades Center.

Rhoades Center is the crossroads of the campus. You can usually find something happening here at all times. Students can go to the TV lounge to watch a soap, catch a speaker at noon in the dining area, or join a pick-up basketball or volleyball game in the evenings. Most C.A.B. dances and special events take place here too.

Acknowledgements

As it came down to the last week, we (Nancy Clemente and Kim Price) took up the slack for the staff and put the finishing touches on the book you now hold. As this was our first time, as well as the students', to undertake a project of this magnitude, we have many people to thank who also dropped everything and assisted us in ways both great and small.

- Student Senate for their monetary support
- Suhr Library Staff for their patience and support
- Joan Huber for proofreading
- Suzan Weyman and Peggy Osten for last minute layout and design decisions and a great cover - sorry we couldn't use it!
- Linda Owens for sharing her editorial and technical skills
- Melissa Shreve and Chantal Myers for their clerical support
- Brad Poling and Geneva Maleski for picking up the food
- Kim's parents for entertaining Sean until midnight
- Susan McBride for the last minute "once over"
- Norm Dinberg for his never ending patience

Last, first, and all ways in between, I want to thank Kim Price. She has encouraged us from the beginning and not only took most of the photographs but put our words and pictures into camera-ready copy. Thanks, Kim, from the bottom of my heart!

To Nancy, for having everyone follow the signs and stick to the theme: you were a pest about it but we still love and appreciate everything you did.

Kim and Nancy keep on smiling through the entire process.
